

COMPENSATE FOR YOUR EMISSIONS AND CONTRIBUTE TO THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

In a nutshell

Carbon offsetting with South Pole provides a unique range of services that go beyond the provision of carbon credits. By connecting inherent project benefits to your sustainability strategy, we create true added value for enhancing stakeholder communication and attracting new business.

Our high quality projects sharpen your positioning and assist you in reaching corporate sustainability commitments - all while working towards the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Rely on our decade's worth of experience and status as a Gold Standard pioneer in the market for premium carbon credits.

Choose the right project to meet your business objectives

When investing in climate neutrality, one of the first questions to clarify is: which kind of emission reduction project suits your business? Ideally, the project is located in a country where your business operates. It should also be based on a technology related to your core business and your sustainability strategy.

Join forces with the world's largest project developer

Our premium emission reduction projects not only helps the climate, but also strongly impacts key SDGs such as upskilling, poverty reduction, and access to clean water. When pursuing your sustainability goals, rest assured of our diligent monitoring, verification and certification of all credits coming out of the 700+ projects that we manage. Choose from our own portfolio of projects or from our range of selected, trusted suppliers.

"We are a global corporation with a demanding set of requirements for our renewable energy sourcing and carbon offsets. We are happy with the way South Pole accompanies us on our mission to become a more sustainable company."

Communicate your impact to derive maximum value

Besides high quality carbon credits our services include reliable communication support, quantification of project benefits based on internationally recognised standards, and effective linking of the benefits of the chosen projects with your core business objective. Our team can support you with customised communication material and detailed information about your project's contribution to the SDGs. For every South Pole solution you adopt, you will receive a certificate and the license to display it on your website, letterheads, business cards, packages and vehicles.
